married a woman named Mary Cole in 1785, but acting under advice a further marriage ceremony was performed in 1796. Subsequent to the death of the fifth Earl question arose to the legitimacy of the issue born prior to 1796, and the House of Lords in 1891 decided that the eldest son, who was born in 1786, was not entitled to the suc cession. The decision given to-day upholds the decision given in 1881, and consequently Mr. Berkeley will hereafter be a Peer of the realm. The House directed that Baron Fitzhardinge be non-suited. THE IRISH CAUSE.

JOHN DILLON TO TAKE ACTIVE LEADERSHIP AT ONCE.
LONDON, July 31.—John Dillon's access to the McCarthylie ranks is still the leading topic in London as well as Dublin. Dilion will, it is stated, take active leadership at once, even though his formal announcement as the leader may be deterred for some time. He will be a formidable antagonist for Par-nell, as he is strong with the "Hillside men" and other extremists, who form the bulk of Parnell's followers.

'It will be difficult,' said a prominent McCarthylite to-day, ''for the honest folk who have stood by Parnell to resist the appeal of a man who has just come from serv-ing a term in prison for the Irish cause, and who has always been fearless and outspoken toward the common enemy."

For this reason Dillon will be doubtiess put on the platform as soon as possible. As for Parnell, his friends say that he is as far from yielding as ever, and that he will deliver one of his most earnest speeches at Theries on sunday. On the other hand, Mrs. Parnell is said to be anxious for peace and rest, the present situation materially the desing with her social duties and ambitions. Mrs. Parnell makes no secret that she aspires to presentation at court. In this case she will be greatly assisted by the Queen's recoilec-tion of the aid that Mrs. Parnell's father ex-

It's just what I expected these men to "It's just what I expected these men to dok," said Mr. Kelly. "Ever since they signed the manifesto issued by the visiting Irishmen in this country, approving the deposition of Mr. Parnell, or rather calling upon him to retire, they have shown that they are not alone patriots, but far-seeing statesmen as well. Their prompt action will have an excellent effect and will serve to hasten the re-establishment of that unity which existed before the unfortunate O'Shea scandal case."

'Has the federation made much progress in collecting money?"
"The fact is," said Mr. Kelly, "we have not tried seriously to raise money so far. A great many of those who subscribe are in sreat many of those who subscribe are in the country or in Europe, and there is plenty of time. No doubt the locking up of that large fund in Paris leaves the patriots in a bad way for funds to carry on the fight, but I expect later on to get subscriptions from many persons to meet the large expenses of the general election, which cannot be much longer deferred and which, if the Nationalists are in readiness, is certain to end in a triumphant victory for Gladstone and home rule."

TWEEN BLAINE AND HATTI.

NEW YORK, July 31.—President Hippolyte has resolved upon a novel method of defending his position in the dispute with Secretary Blaine and the Government concerning the establishment of a coaling station for Uncle Sam's feet at Mole St. Nicholas. He has authorized the publication of the correspondence between Hayti and Secretary Blaine, Minister Douglas and Admiral Gherardi upon the subject. This correspondence is now in press in this city and is to be issued in pamphlet form within a week's time and distributed broadcast here and in Europe. The pamphlet, it is reported, has been prepared under the supervision of the Hayten Consul in this city and Hippolyte's adherents in town have raised a purse to defray the expenses of its dissemination. The pamphlet makes an elaborate defense of Hippolyte, and represents him as a much maligned ruler. It will assert that he cannot be justly charged with breach of faith with promises were made concerning Hayti's will-ingness to grant the United States a coaling station were made by Legitime, who was a usurper and not the chosen representatire of the Haytien people. The pamphies will urge that the Mole St. Nicholos is the Gibraltar of Hayti, and that to cede any rights to it to a foreign power would be to put the country under a protectorate of the power securing such rights; and that Hayti never made such concessions to any foreign government and concessions to any foreign government and never will. The document will score Secre tary Blaine, and will try to show that Hip-polyte is a big-brained and patriotic man.

John Dillon to Take Active Leadership of the Irish Nationalist Party—Another Serious Defection From Parnell—The Chilian Revolution—Hippolyte and Secretary Blaine.

London, July 31.—The House of Lords, sitting as a committee for privileges, to-day decided the remarkable and historic Berkeley peerage claim. The House decided that Randal Mowbray Thomas Berkeley had established his claim to the honors and dignities of the Earl of Berkeley and Viscount Dursley. The claimant alleged that the male legitimate issue of the fifth Earl Berkeley, who died in 1810, was extinct, and that he being the eldest male heir of the fourth Earl was entitled to the peerage in question. Opposed to this claim was the claim of Francis William Fitzhardinge Berkeley, Baron Fitzhardinge, who asserted that the fifth Earl Berkeley had married a woman named Mary Cole in 1785, but acting under advice a further marriage.

FRANCE AND RUSSIA.

TERMS OF A COMMERCIAL ALLIANCE AGREED UPON-ADMIRAL GERVAIS' SPEECH. London, July 31.—It is understood that the terms of a commercial alliance have been practically agreed upon between France and Russia whereby each country will give preference to the product of others. As Russia, i ence to the product of others. As Russa, in years of favorable harvests, is largely a food-exporting country, this arrangement will militate against the United States rather than England, although British manufacturers receive a severe blow from the new French tariff as it is. In return for French concessions, Russia will, it is said, give a preference to French manfactures, while maintaining a stringent tariff for imports from other countries. The advantage thus given to France enhances enormously the value of a Russian alliance, irrespective of any motive of hos-

ATTEMPTS TO RECOVER VALUED RELICS OF THE FRANCO-PRUSSIAN WAR.

Paper vals the structure attempt to recover some valued rener of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-72 is now being made in this city. Some people may remember that the officers of the Forty-seventh Regiment of French infantry of the line, at the time of the capitulation of Sedan, burned the staff upon which their regimental flag hung, destroyed the eagle which surmounted it, and then tearing the silk flag into small pieces they divided it up among their number, carefully concealed the remnants about their persons, and so went into captivity. After the war each of these officers returned to the colonel of their regiment, Count de Grammont, the take a vacation from active politics while he devotes himself to literature.

GRAY REJECTS PARNELL.

DUBLIN, July Bl.—Mr. E. Dwyer Gray, part cowner of the Freegan's Journal, published a letter in that paper in which he says that, in view of the revelations made during the progress of the suit for libel of Mr. Henry Campbell, M. P. for South Fermanagh, and private secretary to Mr. Parnell, against the Cork Daily Herald, and yesterday's utter-ances of Messrs. Dillon and O'Brien, he will henceforth reject Mr. Parnell's attempt to retain the leadership of the Irish National party.

DANT TO DRILL.

BERLIN, July 31.—A dispatch from Munich states that King Otto of Bavaria had shown of late such symptoms of improvement that he was allowed to take long jaunts, with only one attendant, in the vicinity of his castle prison, the Castle of Furstenroid. His long absence on one of these excursions caused alarm at the castle, and on going out in search of the King he was found engaged in drilling the attendant in military exercise, of which Otto has some knowledge. The poor attendant had been under drill for two hours or more, Otto meeting any sign of impatience with a cuff or a blow. The King was cool enough, but was with difficulty induced to return to the castle. When the affair became known to the Bavarian soldiery they are said to have expressed a good deal of pleasure at their sovereign's military taste.

RUMORED RESIGNATION.

Inquiries made among the St. Louis friends Inquiries made among the St. Louis friends of Secretary Noble this morning were, for the first time during all the rumors as to his resignation, met with statements of belief that Gen. Noble had resigned this time in reality. Mr. John C. Orrick, the Secretary's law-partner, is away from the city at present summering in the Adirondacks. Mr. W. Palmer Clarkson, who represents Mr. Orrick in his absence, stated that he had never heard Mr. Orrick speak of having definite information, as to Secretary Noble's intentions or pians. Mr. George R. Lockwood, who has charge of Secretary Noble's real estate interests in St. Louis, is also away, being in New York City. "It would not be wise," he said, "to deny the story on the statements made this morning by Acting Secretary Chandler and Chief Clerk Dawson of the Interior Department, as neither of them would know if Gen. Noble had handed in his resignation. Gen. Noble takes the ground that this is a matter between him and the President, and he would neither confer with any one or announce his action after it was taken. The first authoritative announcement of such a step having been taken, according to Secretary Noble's views, should come from President Harrison, to whom the resignation would, of course, be addressed. I am of the opinion that the next few days will bring more decisive developments in the matter than have been known as yet."

A STARTLING ROMANCE.

Mr. Chandler Characterises the Rumor as "the Same Old Groundless Story"—The General Not at Washington and Out of Reach of Newspaper Correspondents—Opinion in St. Louis.

Washington, D. C., July Si.—Rumors that Secretary Noble had resigned his position in the Cabinet, followed by positive denials, have been so frequent during his term of office, it would seem that little credence would be placed in other reports of the same character, but the positive amouncement printed to-day that Mr. Noble's resignation was in the hands of the President created a flurry among the political gossips and set tongues warging as to the probable truth or falsity of the report. Mr. Noble is Michield Springs and his house in this city is closed, while there is no person at the White House to give any definite information on the subject. A prominent Republican who read the announcement in a morning paper, hurried to the Interior Department, was also asked concerning the story and he replied in positive terms; that it was "without foundation" and characterized it as "the same old story."

accounts of the affair hint at murder, and the vengeance of the once powerful Russian Governor's enemies as being likely to have caused his death.

But, even this does not end the romance, Strange to say, the cell recently occupiedby the dead monk whose history is outlined above, has been given to Father Dom Charles, the dead man's nephew, another well-known man of the world, who renounced its temptations forever. Dom Charles bears, in reality, the historical name of De Borglie and the Jocky Club members who knew him, not so long ago, as one of the leaders of fashon, were astounded when the circumstances of Gen. Nicolai's death also revealed that young De Broglie was an inmate of the monastery. Everybody thought that he was traveling in Africa.

Paris, July 31.—M. De Blowitz, in an interview regarding the famous Von Munster story, says: "When I published the conversation in question I thought myself perfectly authorized to do so. Count von Munster gave me the account of the visit he paid Prince Bismarck on the day of the Prince's fall. He gave me shortly afterwards the details which I published, because I thought they formed a striking chapter, showing the Chancellor's state of mind at the moment of his disgrace. I still think it is a page in history which neither Count von Munster nor I had any right to keep back. I considered myself authorized to publish this interview because Count von Munster had not said a word to preclude my doing so. The conversation appeared Monday, June 2. Wednesday the envoy from the Count von Munster called at my house and I learned with great surprise that Count von Munster was displeased at the publication. I believe Count von Munster to be as honest and straightforward a man as there is in the world. I really believe he never told a lie in his life, and if he had ammed that my story, as I wrote it and as it was published, was false, I should have admitted that it was not true. Up to the present time, however, as you know, he has made no such affirmation, notwithstanding that the Hamburger Nachricktes, Prince Bismarck's mouthplees, challeged him to contradict it, and I think that as a month has elapsed his silences must be considered, even by the most incredulous, as the

This action was the legitimate outcome of the result of a meeting of the European stockholders of the company in London last week.

Exactly what the "Big Four" get for the deal is not known. It is certain, however, that whatever it is it will come out of the earnings of the company after the 3 per cent has been paid on the common stock and 6 per cent on the preferred stock. This has been the bone of contention all along, as the "Big Four" wanted to be paid out of the earnings regardless of the stockholders, claiming that the profits were so great that this could be done without injury to the holders. The company, on the other hand, said that if this was the case it would not make any difference to the "Big Four" if the stockholders were paid first, and it appears that the company has won the day.

NARROW ESCAPE OF 1,300 EXCURSIONISTS OF THE ELM CITY.

NEW HAVEN, COAD., July 81.—As the steamer Elm City of this city, which left New York at 7 p. m. last, night with about 1,800 excursionists on board, was about half way between New York and Bridgeport fire broke out over the boiler-room near the port paddle wheel and blazed up in a most alarming manner. The flames were mostly below deck, but a dense black smoke curled up from below and struck terror to the hearts of the passengers. The excitement on board was intense, and for a few minutes amounted almost to a panic. Women screamed and the little ones clung to their mothers in terror. A man and woman in stateroom 49, which is immediately over the boiler-room, were almost suffocated by the smoke which filled the room, and were carried below in an unconscious condition. The prompt work of the officers of the boat was the only thing that averted an awful catastrophe. The crew were set to work with axes chopping away the wood work in order to get at the blaze. An aparture was cut in the floor of the stateroom over the boiler, a hose inserted and a stream of water was soon playing on the flames. After working about an hour the men managed to extinguish the fire. The blaze originated from an overheated boiler, which ignited the woodwork in the engine room. The man and woman who were overcome by the smoke recovered before the boat reached this city. A few of the women fainted during the fire, but no one was seriously injured.

AT BOCKAWAY BEACH.

New York, July 31.—Last night's storm did much damage at Rockaway Beach. The beach was badly washed out, and the streets and sidewalks broke up by the waves and the torrents of rain. Water is still knee deep in places on the boulevard. Electric lights were put out by the breaking of poles. Some of the hotels were considerably damaged and bathing-houses were washed aways. The weather was uncomfortably cold during the storm.

LONDON, July 31.—The British steamer God-mundening was in collision with the Norwe-gian schooner Lorma last night. The schooner was so badly damaged that she filled and sank. Eight of her crew were drowned.

from the country were caught and many nar-rowly escaped drowning. All the small streams are raging and the cotton planta-tions are under water. The damage will be immense and will, it is feared, ruin many of the planters. The rainfall here averaged ten inches in six hours.

Detective O'Neill lost no time in summor Detective O'Nell lost no time in summon-ing aid and the body was at once removed to the Morgue. As the body was raised a folded paper, covered with writing, was discov-ered. Upon being examined it was found to be a sheet of foolscap, covered with ink-written German script, and evidently con-taining lgst words to his family and friends. The first page and part of the second was taining lest words to his family and friends. The first page and part of the second was devoted to a notification to the police that he was a German, was born in 1862 and had determined to take his life because of trouble he had had with his wife, Bertha. He directs that his wife shall be notified, also his brother, Charles, at 1800 California avenue, and also states that he was a member of Lessing Lodge, No. 218, A. O. U. W. and that his wife will be entitled to $2,000 insurance in that organization. He concludes his note to the police with giving his wife's address as Bertha Reinartz, box $84, La Salle, Ill., and his own name Hugo Beinartz. He directed Jacob Feener, Master Workman of the lodge, to carry out his wishes for the sake of his child. He also wrote a short, curt letter to his wife, briefly announcing his determination, and on the last page of the sheet wrote two notes, one to Henry Schaefer of 410 Lincoln avenue, Streetor, Ill., and the other to his brother, Charles Reinarts, a clerk for Henry Linnewerth.

MAUD ESTABROOKE.

The Missing Heiress Found Living With a Mormon Elder.

AN ENGLISH GIRL WITH A ST. LOUIS HISTORY.

The Search of a Scotland Yard Detective Ended in Salt Lake City-The Heiress Contented With Her Lot and Not Anxious to Return Home-Her St Louis Career.

Miss Maude Estabrook, supposed to have been one at one time a ribbon girl at Penny & Gentles' dry goods store in this city, heiress to a fortune awiting her in Leeds, England the heroine of a romantic elopement from Vienna with an attache of the English Lega series of remarkable adventures now meet ing with a still more remarkable end been found. Inspector Watkins of Scotland Yard is the globe-trotter who has found he after a search that carried him all over America, and he is now about to sail from America, and he is now about to sail from the East for Europe without Miss Estabrooke, but with one of the strangest tales of a wayward heiress that was probably ever told.

The Scotland Yard officer has left Miss Estabrooke in Sait Lake City, Utah. She is now the thirteenth sealed wife of Mormon Elder Jenkins of that polygamous city, and is so well satisfied with Mormonism that she refused to accompany Inspector Watkins back to Leeds and enter claim to her inheritance. She has told the detective the story of how she drifted to Sait Lake City and became one of Elder Jenkins' wives, and has also one of Elder Jenkins' wives, and has also convinced him that she was the bona fide Maud Estabrooke, of whom he was in search, and having done that has declined to return where a fortune awaited her as the Estabrooke, before a Marking was the Marking was brooke heiress. Inspector Watkins, chagrined and disappointed, has consequently begun his return voyage to England alone. He has, however, had a great "hunt for an heiress."

avenue, Streetor, Ill., and the other to his brother, Charles Reinartz, a clerk for Henry Linnewerth, living at 1800 California avenue. In the latter note he says that he had procured a better revolver this time and was about to end his troubles.

Charles Reinartz is an intelligent looking young German about 25 years of age. When officer P. J. O'Conner called at his place of business to acquaint him with the fact of his brother's death, the young man was out with his employer's delivery wagon. Upon his return, upon being told the circumstances, he gave it as his opinion that his brother was a — fool. He refused to talk of the case to a Post Disparch reporter, saying: 'I don't care for him. If he was fool enough to kill himself, that's all right, But I don't want to be disgraced. I don't care for him, but I do care for myself. I've got a good position and I don't wan't to have any talk about me.''

The bunt had been recently straight on the trail of the missing heiress. He struck the trail at Boston, Mass., and from there went direct to Stillwater, R. I. He found at Stillwater that a girl answering Miss Estabrook's description had been governess in a wealthy Rhode Island family, but that STRUGGLED FOR THE REVOLVER.

After a while, however, he censented to tell some of the circumstances. He said that his brother suddenly appeared in St. Louis a little over a week ago, and told him that he had separated from his wife for good, and did not care what became of him.

heiress. There is a St. Louis feature in the strange case, confirmation of the truth of which will be awaited with considerable local of Mathlessen & Hegeler, and had a good position. The temperaments of husband and wife turned out to be uncongenial, and frequent quarrels at length resulted in an open rupture. Hugo Reinartz apparently came to this city determined to destroy himself. He was very much depressed, and on Monday night, his brother Charles, in order that he might cheer him up induced him to go with to Tower Grove Park. But the elder brother retained his sombre thoughts and suddenly drawing a revolver, pointed it at his forehead and snapped it. The weapon did not explode and a struggle took place between the brothers for the possession of the revolver, Charles securing it and refusing to return it. After a long talk and the exercise of much persuasion Hugo was brought to promise that he would not make a second attempt upon his life. Charles, however, kept the pistol. Mr. Huth. She said that she was living under an assumed name; that she was in reality Maud Estabrooke of Leeds, England, and the helress to a fortune in that city. She had gone from Leeds to Vienna, Austria, to complete her musical education. While there she had met and been betrayed by Arthur Van Wort, an attache of the English Legation at Vienna and a married man. They had eloped together and sailed from Bordeaux, France, for Boston, U. S. A. On the way across the ocean, young Van Wort, overcome by remorse, caused by his desertion of his wife and the loss of his career and reputation, had ocean, young Van Wort, overcome by remorse, caused by his desertion of his wife and the loss of his career and reputation, had committeed suicled by jumping into the sea. Landing at Boston, the young English girl had formed an intimacy with a traveling man, who, however, soon deserted her. She then came to St. Louis and secured a position with the firm of Penny & Gentles, finally being stationed at the ribbon counter of that establishment. Mr Huth said that "Annette Shean" told her story in a very straight way, but the story was flatly denied by one John Shean, living on Nebraska avenue south of Arsenal street, who a asserted that the ribbon girl at Penny & Gentles was his own sister and not Maud Estabrooke, the heiress. The girl left Penny & Gentles last spring, saying she was going to Chicago, and another young lady employe of the house, Miss Ida Worthington, also left about the same time. It is supposed that the two went together to Chicago, but nothing positive is known of their movements.

Mr. Huth was seen this morning by a Post-Disparach reporter. "I feel sure the girl they have found in Sait Lake City is the Shean girl, who told me her story here in St. Louis," he said. "She told the story long before I ever knew that Scotland Yard officials were looking for Maud Estabrooke in this country, and when I heard of that search, I reported the case to the police feeling confident that the girl was the missing Maud Estabrooke. I am anxious to hear exactly how and where she was traced, to see if the St. Louis feature of the case is not really based on solid truth."

At Penny & Gentles' establishment, the head of the ribbon department remembered "Annette Shean" perfectly. He stated that she had always appeared reticent about her life, but was not in very good favor with the

In his order to General Superintendent Duffy, the "Lord High Everything Eise" of the Street Department, the Commissioner ordered the discharge of ninety-nine men, most of whom are laborers. The order was duly executed the day before yesterday, and up to noon today seventeen of the victims had presented unmistakable evidence that they were wrongfully discharged. They had certificates to show that they were naturalized and that their names were on the registration lists. Commissioner Murphy accordingly ordered their reinstatement. Others are getting their papers in shape and it is claimed that as many again will convince Mr. Murphy that they have been wrongfully treated. The seventeen reinstated thus far are: F. YACHTING.

Edward Burgess, the world renowned yacht designer, who died of typhoid fever at his residence in Boston, on July 12, was a native chased and sent to American as a present to the late August Belmont, the American representative of the Rothschilds. These five mares were selected as the representatives of the best blood on the English turf and Adonia's sire, the fill Used was also imported to this country for Mr. Belmont's stud. Imp. King Ban, the sire of Ban Adonia also comes from the most fashionable strains of English thoroughbreds so that the mare Mr. Lucas has secured is exceptionally well bred on both her sire's and dam's side. She broke down and was purchased from Gen. Jackson of the Belle Mead Stud, Tennessee, Maj. Thomas and Mr. Gardner. Ban Adonia was a fair performer on the track, particularly as a 2-pear-old.

Mr. Thomas Van Studdiford of Jonesburg, Montgomery County. Mo., has leased for two years of Mr. Joseph D. Lucas of the Goodwood Stud the chestnut stallion Porter Ashe, by Joe Hooker, out of Abbie W., by Noriolk. Mr. Van Studdiford will stand the horse at his place and a great improvement in the blood of horses in that vicinity will no doubt be the result, as there are a number of fine saddle mares up there who should produce grand coits when bred to a horse like Porter Ashe. The stallion is a full brother to Joe Courtney and comes of the great Noriolk family which gave to the turf such wonderful performers as the Emperor of Norfolk, the Czar, E Rio Rey and Hey del Rey.

The series with the Eastern clubs, Boston, Athletics, Baltimore and Washington will be much more interesting than upon their first visit to St. Louis. Both Washington and the Athletics have been greatly strenthened within the past month.

It will be interesting to watch the stolen base record of the Bostons and Browns. Both have very speedy men in Comiskey, McCarthy, Hoy, Fuller, Brown, Richardson, Stricker, Duffy, Farrell and Radford.

This will be Hardie Richardson's first visit to St. Louis since the world's championship days with Detroit. He is the same brilliant worker and hard hitter that he has been for years past. The Boston Herald and Globe will publish bulletins by innings of the Boston series here. The Browns are prime favorites in Boston, and are regarded as the Boston's hardest club to beat.

THE CRIMINAL POPULATION.

Census Reports Show a Remarkable Pre-

The report of the Census Bureau in reference to prisoners confined in county jails entains some interesting information and sigffineant facts. In the first place it is shown that the percentage of criminals to population has materially increased since isso. In that year the number confined in county jails was 12,691, or 283 in each 1,000,000. On June 1,1890, there were 19,388, prisoners so confined, or 312 to 1,000,000, an increase of fifty-nine to 1,000,000. The 19,588 prisoners 8,577 were colored and 13,561 were white. Of the white prisoners 9,684 were native-horn and 3,765 foreign-born, with 512 whose nativity was unknown.

The native white prisoners are divided into four sub-classes, as follows: 5,265 had both parents native; 629 had one parent native and one parent foreign-born; 2,734 had both parents foreign-born and in 1,066 cases the birthplace of one or both parents is unknown. Of the prisoners with one parent foreign-born, 286 had a foreign-born mother and 320 had a foreign-born father: I Leaving out of view the 1,056 native white prisoners whose parentage is unknown in whole or in part, there remain 8,628 cases in which the proportion of native to foreign blood can be estimated. If to the 5,255 native white prisoners born of farive parents is added one-half of the number with one parent if oreign born the sum is 5.579.5. If to the 2,734 native white prisoners born of foreign parents is added an equal amount the sum is 3,045.5; but to this latter figure must also be added 3,755 foreign-born prisoners, which gives as a result 6,815.5. In other words, the foreign population of this country contributes, directly or indirectly, in the persons of the foreign population of the return white prisoner than the entire native white population. gifficant facts. A LEADING CITIZEN OF THE VIRGINIA CITY TRIED FOR MURDER.

The Wife of Dr. J. A. P. Baker Shown t Have Been Murdered by Himself and Paramour-Letters That Passed Be tween the Doctor and Mrs. Gilmer-A Sensational Trial.

ARINGDON, Va., July 31,-This historic old educational center is in the throes of a great sensation, the trial of one of the most pron nent men in this part of the State on the charge of murdering his wife by poison. The prisoner at the bar is Dr. John A. P. Baker, and the chief witness against him is his cor fessed paramour, Mrs. W. R. Gilmer, wife o well-known and prominent resident of this city, whose life was also sought by the same method. The wife of Dr. Baker nearly two years ago and at that time it was thought that her sudden death was due to heart failure. Her hus band. Dr. Baker, had her body embalmed be fore burial. It has since transpired that house-cleaning and moving furniture about Dr. Baker's house, or in some other way, found letters from Mrs. Gilmer which showed that there was a criminal intimacy between her and Dr. Baker, and that she and Dr Baker had plotted Mrs. Baker's death. CONFESSED THE CRIME.

When the matter was pressed home to Mrs. Gilmer she confessed that Mrs. Baker had and it is now believed that Dr. Baker had the body embalmed to hide the traces of it. It is said that Baker and Mrs. Gilmer have been Baker did not put things in such a shape as to permit their being together without difficulty and fear of detection. It is also admit ted that Dr. Baker sent Mrs. Gilmer poison and instructed her how to administer it to her husband. She did so and nothing saved her husband's life but the timely arrival of Dr. Gilmer, a brother of the poisoned man. The murderous pair were placed under ar rest immediately following the confession of Mrs. Gilmer, and the latter is now being used witness by the State against Dr. Baker, MRS. GILMER'S STATEMENT.

This is the fourth day of the trial and every available nook in the old court room is packed with people. The peculiar atroclousness of the deed is suffi-cient to attract attention from the public, but the fact of the prominence of the chief actors in the drama lends the case especial interest to the people of this quiet city, where sensations have heretofore been like angels' visits.

Dr. Baker is a fine-looking man, virile and vigorous at the age of 50. The serious charge did not seem to have produced any marked effect upon his bearing, as he was brought forward to-day and took his seat by his

The prosecuting witness, Mrs. Gilmer, gave evidence of the terrible ordeal to which she was seated in the witness box and proceeded to tell the story of the revolting crime. She has been a hand some woman and is still fine looking. She said her age was 83 and married Mr. Gilmer thirteen years age. said her age was 83 and married Mr. Gilmer thirteen years ago. She had known Dr. Baker, the poisoner, since her marriage. The day he saw her a bride he was captivated by her and made a vow that he would gain her love. They had been criminally intimate for about five years. They fell so desperately in love with each other that they resolved to get her husband and Dr. Baker's wife out of get her husband and Dr. Baker's wife out of the way, in order that they might marry and live together. So by degrees Dr. Baker poisoned his wife, as he had told her repeat-edly he was doing, and Sept. 25, 1889, she died. Then the next question was to get Mr. Gilmer out of the way. This was attempted, but his life was saved by the skill of his brother, Dr. Gilmer, who was called to at

RUMORS AFFECTING A BANK.

NEW TORK, July 81.—The stock market is very unsettled still, in consequence of the rumor affecting one of the oldest banks here, and which has also been long established in London, its foreign house being one of the largest in England. I should be glad to see the person who is guilty in this case run down and caught. I can only repeat that I have not the remotest idea of any firm to which the rumor might apply."

THE FINAL DIVIDEND. NEWARK, N. J., July 31.—The bankrupt New Jersey Mutual Life Insurance Co., which was wrecked fifteen years ago, will settle its final dividend of 11% per cent shortly. Blaine, Jr., to get a divorce. The public seems to be unaware of the facts pertaining to the ease with which divorces are obtained in this State. The law has been on the statute-books for fifteen years, and when acted on by the Territorial Legislature in its early days, for the pur-pose of inducing immigration to the then pose of inducing immigration to the then sparsely settled prairies of South Dakota, and the act of granting divorces on such a short period of time contemplated that the applicant would remain a resident of the territory and contribute to the building up of the then thinly settled commonwealth. The various judges who have occupied the bench during the interim of fifteen years have allowed the law to run along without special notice until certain parties, such as Mrs. Jas. G. the annuity has not been paid.

The answer filed yesterday says that his departure from Paris was due to intrigues with women; that his father settled 1,000 francs a month on him pending his good behavior. "He failed to support his wife and family, and I considered him as dead."
The father states that the agreement was made for the support of the son's family, and that the abandonment of them broke the

William Leffler Tells Why the Case Against Delegate Cronin Was Dropped. William Leffler, the newsdealer on Market treet, between Tenth and El eventh, whose , Albert, failed to appear in the First District Police Court yesterday to prosecute Delegate Jim Cronin for assault, to-day made a ratner remarkable statement as to the reason why the case was allowed to be dismissed without prosecution.

Mr. Leffler said: "In the first place I wish The State's Attorneys at this point introduced as evidence, a number of love letters which had passed between Dr. Baker and Mrs. Gilmer. They disclosed more than has been told. The contents of these letters are too full of love, gush and depravity to appear in public print. They were written by a smart woman, and in a shrewd manner, to clear her and perhaps convict the prisoner.

Upon the reading of these missives the witness showed great agitation, and it was with difficulty that the examination was resumed. She told, however, that immediately after the death of his wife, Dr. Baker paid her a visit and said:

"Now, you see what I have accomplished, all for your sake. If we can get Gilmer out of the way I will be happy forever."

There are over one hundred witnesses to be examined in the case and the trial promises to be a long one. Twelve medical experts have been called and the submission of their theories will consume several days.

When my son saw that he was not to be afforded any protection he drew out his knife to protect himself. As he did so two hoodlums in the crowd selzed his arms and Cronin then beat him in the face unmercifully. The officer did not restrain him.

"Now, as to why my son did not prosecute. Several gentiemen who are quite prominent, one of them being an official at the City Hall, called on me and told me that it would be foolish for my son and myself to appear against Cronin. 'You might succeed in having him fined,' they said, 'but what good would it do. It is a certainty that his fine would be at once remitted, and he is a man who could do you a great deal of harm with impunity.' I believed that what they said was true and that is why the case went by default."

Side Notes. John Jones was arrested by the police to day on a warrant issued by Justice Bunyan hod-carrier, employed at the new Catholic church being erected in St. Catholic church being erected in St.
Mary's parish. Jones, who is a member of the East St. Louis Hod Carriers' Union, is charged with assaulting Owens with a deadly weapon. Owens claims that he and several companions were roughly handled by a crowd of East St. Louis hod-carriers has light. He stated to Justice Bunyan that Jones was in the crowd and had struck him with a club. The hod-carriers employed on the new church claim they belong to St. Louis unions, but the members of the East St. Louis union have tried to persuade them to quit work. All but three of the hod carriers employed on the building were at work to-day. The missing ones are thought by their companions to have been intimidated. No further trouble is looked for.
Richard Fitzgernid, the stranger who attacked Police Officer Fahey in the O. & M.

Badger of 1438 East Grand avenue, came very nearly resulting seriously for him. Mr. Badger is engineer at the Third National Bank and was on his way to work.

"I was sitting on the front seat of the Broadway grip," said he. "When we were about thirty feet from the crossing I saw the Franklin avenue train. I was on the right hand side. I threw my arm around the upright and stepped down on the running board to jump off, but the trains came together before I had time to jump and I was thrown on my back on the street. Both grips jumped the track and formed a V. I was lying between them. The running board passed over my head and knocked off my hat. The number of the trailer of the Broadway train was 174. A boy said the number of the grip was 74, but I don't know whether it is or not. I don't know the number of the Franklin avenue grip."" writer is not a detective or has only started in the business. The detectives say there was a bogus detective association in Cedar Rapids which advertised to make a detective of any one who would buy a badge and commission for $1.50. They think the writer has found one of the circulars which were sent out at the time of the murder in 1887, and has seen some one answering the description in Union City. The police departments in large cities are constantly in receipt of letters from so-called detectives who no sooner receive a badge and certificate than they began arresting innocent people pro-sooner receive a badge and certificate that they began arresting innocent people pro-miscuously. As Abbott West is badly wanted here, Mr. Lucas, Secretary to Chief Harrigan, inclosed a photograph and circular to Mr. Welsh of Union City, with the request that he telegraph at once if the Union City man proves to be the man the St. Louis police are looking for.

About July 1, 1887, a neatly dressed gentle-man rented a room at 703 North Jefferson man rented a room at 703 North Jefferson avenue and in the evening moved into it with his supposed wife, a remarkably handsome young woman of the blonde type. The gentleman gave his name as Thomas Abbott and introduced the young lady as his wife. They seemed to be very poor, but seemed happy in each other's company and associated with the neighbors very little. In answer to inquiries Abbott said he had left his home in Toronto, Canada, where his parents were very wealthy, and had married the young lady against the wishes of the family. He had studied for the ministry, he said, but fell in love with the girl whose parents were poor and then gave up all thought of becoming a minister. DEATH OF THE WOMAN.

She sank gradually day by day, however, until she died in great agony July 18. On the way to the cemetery on the day of the burial Mr. Abbott talked to his companions in the carriage of arsenic and said something about poisonous canned food he and his wife had poisonous canned food he and his wife had eaten during the two weeks she lived in the house. After the funeral, Abbott went to his employer, Mr. M. D. Degge, who kept a silversmith shop on South Seventh street, and taking a few things belonging to him, went away. The following day Mr. Degge received a letter from Abbott, mailed in East St. Louis, in which the writer said he was about to commit suicide, as he was satisfied his wife had died of arsenic administered by her own hand, a suspicion founded on a letter he said she had written to him the day before she died.

VERY SUSPICIOUS.

He inclosed the letter. It was signed with Mrs. Abbott's name and in it she said she yould sooner die than be deserted by her hus band, as she teared he was about to leave her. Struck with the similarity of hand-writing in both letters Mr. Degge turned them over to the police for investiga-tion. A search of Abbott's workbench Station yesterday, charged with being insane. Sev- in Degge's shop resulted in the discovery of a one pound box of arsenic partly used, which Mr. Degge had bought two weeks before for Abbott, who said he wanted to make some experiments in silver plating with it. In the parts examined large quantities of In the parts examined large quantities of arsenic were found, and a search for Abbott was begun. On the day of the discovery, July 27, a telegram was received from Chesterton, Ind., asking for a full description of Thomas Abbott, whom the newspaper reports stated was wanted for the murder of a young girl. The party sending the telegram said he thought the man was no other than Rev. Thomas Abbott, who had left his wife and children and run off in June of that year with a young lady of Chesterton, and who had returned without Chesterton, and who had returned withou her. He pretended insanity and claimed to know nothing of the girl and could not recall anything that happened from the time he left the city with her. a telegram in a newspaper describing him as the murderer of the girl in St. Louis, and the next morning he disappeared. He was traced to Chicago and then to Canada, where his rich relatives are supposed to have shielded him and gave him money to get out of the country. Every summer since then the Chief of Police in this city receives information that Abbott has returned to Indiana and can be had any time if he is wanted. There is no fugitive from justice the police would be more ready to apprehend than Abbott, as the murder with which he is accused was the most cold blooded in the accused was the most cold blooded in the police annals of this city, but so far they have investigated rumor after rumor locat-ing West without finding him.

The Woman's thristian Alliance is a cooperative organization among self-supporting women and girls for mutual advancement, protection and culture. The central building is at 2626 Washington avenue, and there is a branch at 1485 North Tenth street in connection with Union Congregational Church. There are classes in dressmaking, music, stenography, penmanship, plain sewing, type-writing, book-keeping and the English branches, all of which is free to members, who pay a hominal membership fee. There is also a Friendly Aid, and provision is made for sending working girls to pleasant places in the country when on their vacation. The services of a skilled lady physician can be had, and on basis of co-operation board is secured at the home on Washington avenue at low rates, where there is a library and good companionship. The work is under a board of lady managers. Miss Mettle E. Thomson is President; Miss Fannie McPheeters, Treasurer, and Miss Henrietta Beck, Secretary, Mrs. M. A. Blair is the matron. It is expected that other branches will be established.

"How will you start the work? Well, this is our plan. The Jewish immigrant if properly taken care of can be taught to assimilate American ways very rapidly. With this in view we will set to work. Our system will be one of education from the ground up. We intend starting night schools next winter in the Jewish quarters down town. We will give them a rudimentary English education, but beyond this we will have gentlemen of culture to speak to them and instruct them in the various phases of American life and thought. In other words, to bring them to a realization of what American citizenship is. The immigration question does not affect us as largely as the Eastern cities, but we will be prepared to assist any of our exiled brethren who may come this way."

CEN. SHERIDAN.

Gen. Philip Sheridan was one of the great Captains of the world. No cavalry commander ever equalled him. He was still a young man when the war closed. He then showed by one brilliant feat that he possessed diplomatic and administrative abilities of the highest order, for by one bold stroke he drove the French out of Mexico. While in the prime of life he came home to Washington from a long trip from the far West. He felt chilly. If he had taken Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure he would probably have found relief, but he neglected this simple precaution, and when medical aid was summoned he was suffering from an acute attack of rheumatism. It involved his heart, and he was cut off at an age when he was still comparatively a young man. Reid's German Cough and Kidney Cure is for sale by all druggists, 25 and 50 cents a bottle. It contains no poison.
